

Four Concerns Purchase Pictures of MWC Campus

Brown's Court, George Washington Motor Court, the Stratford Hotel, and the R. F. and P. Railway Station put up pictures of Mary Washington College last week. Three of the pictures are of E. Lee Trinkle Library and one of Monroe Hall. The photographs taken last spring by Frank Demment of Colonial Studio in Richmond, are done in sepia and framed in natural wood with an overall measurement of sixteen inches by twenty-two inches with the name of the building and Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia engraved at the bottom.

Courts Purchase Pictures

Brown's Court, owned and operated by L. Verbarg, is located in a shady grove of trees two and a half miles from town on Route 1. Along with his fifty-five rooms Mr. Verbarg also has a dining room which serves breakfast and supper. He is hoping to have continuous dining service as soon as he finishes enlarging. All of the rooms have modern furniture with Hollywood beds and many of the rooms connect in such a fashion as to make them perfect for family over-night stops. Mr. Verbarg has not yet decided whether he will put his picture of the library in the dining room or in the lounge.

The George Washington Motor Court, located three blocks west of the campus on Eighth Street and Route 1 Bypass, also ordered and received a picture of Trinkle Library. J. Lee Price, owner, is rightfully proud of his court which opened only five months ago. His thirty-two rooms are accompanied by thirty-two baths and Simmons spring-mattresses and box springs. Mr. Price also has "family units" plus a bridal suite which has traveling newly-weds. All the rooms are sound proofed as well as fire proofed and contain radios.

Mr. Otis G. Brooks, manager of the Stratford Hotel, selected a photograph of Monroe Hall, but is still undecided where he will have it hung. The Stratford is located north of town on the cut off from Route 1.

Edward H. Cann of the R. F. & P. plans to hang his picture of the library in the main waiting room where it can be easily noticed. Last year five prints of the college were placed in the new Fredericksburg Dining Car. This car with the pictures has been in continual use since that time going from New York to Florida.

MWC Bullet Wins NSPA Honor Rating

M. W. C. Bullet for second semester for 1948-49 won on honor rating and second class in all-American in the Critical Service of the Associated Collegiate Press. The Bullet under Ann Devening was praised for its news coverage on campus but its chief fault was to be in the individual news stories.

Maude Levey, editor-in-chief, hopes that each person on the staff will take time to study the scorebook carefully in anticipation of making an All-American rating for the first semester this year.

Sumner Awarded Research Fellowship

Raiford E. Sumner, assistant professor of history at Mary Washington College, has been named by the directors of the Howerton Foundation as recipient of its 1949 research fellowship. The research is to be on the origin of the peoples of the Southern Appalachian region. This work will be done under the direction of the University of Alabama.

Dr. Sumner holds degrees from the universities of Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana. He has done considerable work in the field of Southern population and politics and during the past few years has been guest lecturer at several colleges throughout the South. He holds membership in the Southern Political Science Association and the Southern Historical society, and recently has had several of his research papers published.

Editors To Attend Detroit Convention

Leora Knapp, editor-in-chief of the Battlefield, and Maude Levey, editor-in-chief of the Bullet, leave Wednesday to attend the annual convention of the National Scholastic Press Association. The convention will begin October 13 and last through October 15 and is to be housed in the Statler Hotel in Detroit, Michigan. Both girls have great expectations of learning many new slants concerning year books and college newspapers.

Busline Exhibits MWC Murals

Murals of George Washington Hall and E. Lee Trinkle Library, which were taken by Frank Demment of the Colonial Studio in Richmond, have been placed in the Fredericksburg terminal of the Richmond Greyhound Lines, Incorporated. The campus photographs were ordered last May by Mr. H. L. Langford, assistant general traffic manager of the Richmond Greyhound Lines, and arrangements for their hanging were worked out with him and with Mr. Bernard C. Pendleton, Fredericksburg ticket agent. Ninety-word captions furnish the reader with interesting information concerning these two buildings.

A group photograph was also taken under the murals of the following: Anne Craig of Westfield; New Jersey, Barbara Mack of Baldwin; New York, Gisela Ruthroth of New Bedford, Massachusetts; Elizabeth Ellis of Middletown, Connecticut; Beverly Adams of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and Marie Attianese of Bridgeport, Connecticut.

The group of photographs were taken by Judson Smith of Fredericksburg.

MWC Vets Elect Franklin To S. G.

The M. W. C. Vets under the sponsorship of Dr. George Shankle held their first meeting of the fall September 29. At that time the 31 members of the association elected Ralph Franklin as their Student Government Representative.

The other officers are: Tom Aughertson, president; Charlie Ritter, vice-president; John Resch, secretary; Don Whittle, treasurer; Ralph Franklin, athletic director; and Ed Bradon, publicity director.

Campus Chest Has New Plan

The president of Campus Chest, Margaret Anne Eanes, has announced that her organization will function under a new plan this year. The annual campaign is scheduled for the week of October 12-19, at the end of which all students will pay their pledges.

The Campus Chest is organized for the convenience of the college students. Each girl is asked to donate towards one fund which includes World Student Service Fund, Cancer, Tuberculosis, Infantile Paralysis, and Y. W. C. A. Fifty percent of the total amount is for the W. S. S. F. and the balance is to be divided evenly among the Cancer, T. B. and Y. W. C. A. funds.

Each student is encouraged to contribute a minimum of two dollars toward the $3,000 goal.

A musical quiz show sponsored by the Campus Chest on October 10 and 11 will precede the drive. The entire student body is invited to participate in the show, the object of which is to impress the importance of the drive upon the students. The program will be presented over station WMWC.

Two prizes will be awarded to the winners of the contest at con-

On Oct. 13, the Barter Theatre of Virginia will present "The Imaginary Invalid," a comedy by Moliere. The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is to make a return engagement in the auditorium on Feb. 17 and will complete the 1949-1950 series.

Chesterfield Girl Selected Here

Unknown to many newcomers on Campus is the fact that Mary Washington has a "Chesterfield girl." This year she is Jean Melvin, a senior from Baltimore, Md.

Jean is a distributing agent for the Campus Merchandizing Board whose representatives can be found in many American colleges. It is her job to create interest in the Chesterfield brand of cigarette on campus.

On October 6, Jean will attend the Chesterfield Conference at the University of Richmond. At this area conference she will meet and talk to salespeople and other representatives. She will be informed as to how to make displays and to undertake the other duties pertaining to her job.

Later in the year Jean plans to distribute Chesterfields to winning sport teams. Other important events may be chosen also.

Jean was selected "Chesterfield Girl" of MWC by the Campus Merchandizing Board.

Frosh Awarded Scholarship

This Is Loyalty Week

As the leaves begin to turn beautiful shades of reds, yellows and oranges and the campus is dotted with bright skirts and sweaters the old M. W. C. girls begin to wonder when Loyalty Week will be held. For those who love Mary Washington, Loyalty Week is one of the highlights of the year.

Observation of Loyalty Week, called Yram Week (Mary spelled backwards) until last year, was begun here at Mary Washington years ago and has been handed down proudly to each new class. The activities for an entire week are devoted to promoting school and class spirit and loyalty.

And this is Loyalty Week! The Freshmen probably wondered yesterday when they saw the heads of the sober seniors adorned with those perky little caps. And most of them were wearing green and white, their class colors. Then today the jolly juniors arrived all bedecked in red and white with similar caps. And don't be surprised tomorrow when the sophisticated sophomores wear purple and white, plus the caps. By now the Frosh will have guessed that they too will wear caps and their class colors of maroon and white. Then on Friday everyone wears M. W. C. colors of blue and white.

However wearing class colors is only a small part of Loyalty Week. Each class presents a skit in Chandler Circle at 1:30. The newcomers most likely saw for the first time yesterday the seniors hand down the Torch to the junior class. Wednesday the sophomores will present their skit. And Thursday the class of '53 will give its first public performance. The faculty will entertain the crowd on Friday.

The week's activities are climaxed by Loyalty Night, when one of the most impressive ceremonies of the year takes place. Each class will assemble in front of their respective dorms at 7:15 Ball, Westmoreland, Virginia and Willard. The student body will progress, to the athletic field where the symbolism of the seal of Mary Washington will be explained. With this explanation comes a feeling of unity and loyalty for the college.

Yes, Loyalty Night ends amid an atmosphere of comradeship and friendliness, but the friendly atmosphere does not end, for it continues throughout the year. Loyalty Week is only the outward display of the deep love the students have for Mary Washington. The true expression of their high regard is demonstrated by loyalty to Mary Washington traditions, especially that of friendliness, by speaking to everyone, and by participation in college and class activities. Remember, Loyalty Week does not end with Loyalty Night, but continues throughout the year in the actions of every Mary Washington girl.

Plan Now

Have you had typing and shorthand? What kind of career are you planning that does not require one or both of them?

Mary Washington College cannot give credit for short hand and typing since it is now a liberal arts college. However, the facilities are available and students are urged to take advantage of this opportunity during their college years. By taking these courses while still in college you will be able to get and keep better jobs than if you have to waste valuable time and money attending a business school after you graduate.

Plan now to take these courses. Since they are given for no credit, class attendance is not required and your grades do not affect your general average. You lose nothing in taking these classes and gain much help in getting a job after graduation.

Connie Conley Wears Merc Train Gown

The wedding gown worn by Miss Connie Conley last June as publicity for the 1949 production of "The Common Glory" has historical significance. It was outstanding among a number of articles which constituted Virginia's gifts from the French Merc Train. The dress is of heavy white crepe with a long bodice, dohman sleeves, and unpursed pleats across the front which fall in folds with a net of shirred fullness. The full length bridal veil extends to the end of the long train attached to the waist. The veil is secured to the head by a cap arrangement ornamented with petals of net and lace, each center being tiny orange buds. Miss Conley carried a dainty bridal handkerchief of Brussels lace and linen contributed by the city of Lyons.

Miss Conley held one of the six women's speaking roles in the summer production. She is a graduate of Mary Washington College where she majored in preparation for a career in the theater. She resides in Pitman, New Jersey.

The gown has now become a part of a permanent exhibit at Mary Washington.

Gifts For Brompton

This summer Mr. R. A. Kishpaugh, a Fredericksburg business man, presented the college with a sundial and a picture made by the photographer Brady during the Civil War, for use at Brompton, which is now the home of Dr. Morgan L. Combs, president of the college.

Check That Impulse !!!

Dear Jody,

I'm writing you today because I don't want you, a freshman, to be following the bad example set by so many of the upper classes. I don't care how many people you see cutting campus, you are not to cut campus.

And now, since you are the inquisitive type, I'll give you three good reasons why.

First, buying grass seed and paying men to sow it is an expensive deal these days and the money spent on that could be used to build the walk behind Tri-Unit that is so badly needed.

Secondly, and most important, cutting campus shows a definite lack of school spirit and I know you don't want to be accused of that sin of omission.

Thirdly, all the bare spots make our lovely campus look trashy and cheap.

There is no excuse for anybody walking on the grass, when we have all the walks we need at the present except, of course the one behind Tri-Unit which has been promised to us in the near future.

Love,

Sis

P.S. Hope your allowance is holding out better than mine did. Maybe I'd better keep some of it for you so you won't spend it?

Sis

Boran Attends U. of Heidelberg

A newcomer at the University of Heidelberg in Heidelberg, Germany, is Rosemary Boran, a former lower Sophomore at Mary Washington College. Miss Boran left for Germany with her parents on June 12 and plans to remain there for three years.

She is interested in sociology and art and will pursue courses in these subjects at the University.

Former MWC Graduate Appointed Lieutenant In Women's MSCR

Miss Don Fuqua McElrath, 524 Allison Avenue, Southwest, Roanoke, Va., has been appointed a second lieutenant in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps to participate in the physical therapy training course at the Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The Surgeon General, Department of the Army, announces.

Lieutenant McElrath was graduated from Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va., in 1949 with a B. S. in biology. She is now attending the two-month orientation course for women officers in the Army Medical Department at Brooke Army Medical Center. Upon its completion, she will begin the 12-month physical therapy training course. Assignment to an Army hospital will follow.

The Women's Medical Specialist Corps, United States Army, in which Lieutenant McElrath has been appointed, consists of women officers who are dietitians, physical therapists, and occupational therapists. WMSC officers are assigned to Army hospital in this country and overseas.

Newman Club Initiates

On Sunday, October 2, the Newman Club at Mary Washington held its annual initiation. Twenty-four candidates were admitted to the club in a formal ceremony in the parish hall at St. Mary's Church, Connie Metzgar presiding. This is the first time the initiation has taken place in the new parish hall, and it was said to have been the most impressive ever held.

After the initiation, a reception was given both old and new members by the Ladies' Sanctuary Society.

At the next regular meeting to be held on October 10 Monsignor Louis Motrey, Professor of Canon Law at the Catholic University in Washington, will be our guest speaker. Monsignor Motrey conducted the retreat here last spring and was a chapel speaker during Religious Emphasis Week.

San Diego State College Discusses Value Of Exams

San Diego, Calif. (I. F.)—Over two hundred faculty members at San Diego State College base the final exams on 91-100 per cent of the semester's work, according to the recent findings of the Special Faculty Committee for the Study of Examination Practices. Also the majority of the professors determine the semester's grade on 21-40 per cent of the final exam.

The committee was organized last year for the purpose of seeking suggestions for improvement of the final examination procedure and directing the faculty's attention toward a critical consideration of examination techniques. Questionnaires were prepared and sent to each faculty member with questions asking for the courses under his instruction, percentage of the semester's work which he required students to review and upon what per cent of each semester grade he based the final.

To the question: "Do you feel that a final examination serves a valid academic purpose in teaching your subject," 99 answered yes while 28 answered no. To the question: "On the basis of present class size and teaching conditions do you feel that more could be accomplished in teaching your subject through substituting 2-4 extra class meetings for the final examinations," there were 39 marked yes and 52 marked no.

Summarizing the report, the committee stated that the average final exam was based on the review of the entire course and determined about one-third of the semester's grade. Also, four-fifths of the faculty answering the questionnaire believed that the final examination served a valid academic purpose and one-third reported that 2-4 extra sessions would be a desirable substitute.

The committee agreed on the principal that the final exam served a vital purpose in the educational system in that it checked the student's progress. However, it suggested that a good exam should be given at least once a month and a devaluation of the final exam in preference to the spread of the emphasis over the examinations given at more frequent intervals.

Recommendations were made by the committee that the staffs of departments, under the direction of departmental chairman, undertake the discussion of examination practices with a view to an agreement on the administration of good exams.

Binford Completes Murals For New York Bank

"It's the biggest thing in murals since Radio City was built," said an art expert concerning the murals painted by Julien Binford for the Greenwich Savings Bank in New York City.

The theme of the seven panels painted by the well-known Mary Washington art instructor is the history of the bank as related to the growth of New York. Four of the panels deal with the years in which the bank moved into four buildings in Greenwich Village. The other three concern the buildings in which the bank now has its main office and branches.

A great deal of research was necessary concerning the history of New York, fashions, and other characteristics of the seven periods involved. Besides modeling for all the women in the murals, the artist's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Binford, did much of this research.

Mr. Binford did the murals in Fredericksburg and had to find his costumes and models here. The costumes were borrowed from Mrs. Gari Melchers, Mrs. Thomas Boggs, and from Miss Eliza Roy.

Keith Pitzer, an ex-GI who was graduated from Mary Washington last year, grew a beard and posed for all the men in the murals.

In many cases the architecture of the bank was altered to suit Mr. Binford, when he felt that if the interior was redesigned a bit the murals would show off better.

Notice

Dr. Ittis who is writing a book in Genetics is looking for a student who, for the usual fee, would like to type the manuscript. For an appointment meet Dr. Ittis in Chandler South Lab. on Tuesday at 3:00 P.M. or on Thursday at 4:00 P.M.

He also built a scale model of the bank's main room to illustrate his plan.

Mr. Binford, a native of Virginia, is represented in permanent collections of numerous galleries including the Boston Museum and the Virginia Museum.

Articles concerning Mr. Binford and his work have appeared in the New York World-Telegram,

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

She walked into the cottage and was greeted by her roommate who whispered: "Quick—to the room, cleanup. The inspector's here."

Dashing to her room, she picked up scattered possessions, flung them in the wall closet.

Dashing around the room, she rapidly dusted, rearranged the top blanket on the bed and fell exhausted in her desk chair. Then she yelled out: "Has the old bag left yet?"

Then, came the answer . . .

"Nope—she's still here . . ." said the inspector stepping out of the closet where she had been checking the shelves.

Important!

The cuts (pictures) did not return from the engravers in time for publication in this issue of the "Bulletin".

A student was ready for religion quiz when the instructor asked him to pass out the quiz papers. The student took a look at them and started to speak:

"Pass out the papers"

"But Father"

"Pass out the papers"

"But Father"

And so like the good boy that he is???? the student passed out the papers. When all was quiet he ventured to try again:

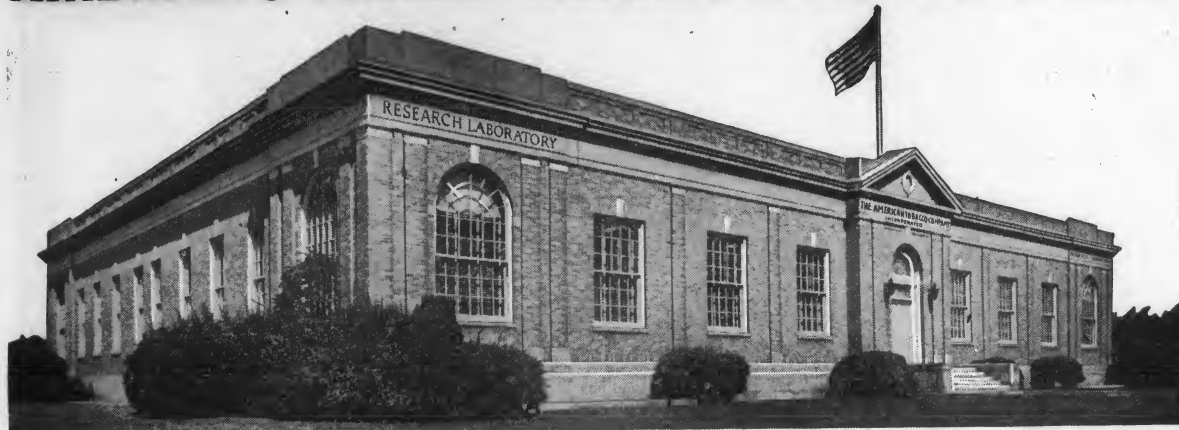

"But Father"

"Well"

"But Father, I have the answer sheet."

» PERSONALS »

On September 24, 1949 the weather was rather cool; nevertheless, Betty Montgomery went to the beach. Wasn't it cold, Betty? Or did you "have your love to keep you warm?"

The girls of Va. Hall are wondering why Eleanor Wideman, fully clothed, quickly jumped into her room when a group of young men entered the back door. Just think! Poor Annette in her little shirt, shoes and socks had to stay and tell the astonished boys to please go to the front door. What's the matter, Eleanor—bashful or something?

I was told that "K" Showker was left in care of a certain party from the S. P. E. house early Saturday night because her date had an awful headache. Boy, she knocks 'em out quick!!

Have you heard!!! Bobby Fowler was so warm this week end that she went swimming in an outdoor pool trying to cool off. Was the water cool and refreshing, Bobby?

Rita Morgan has been driving everyone crazy in Va. Hall trying on evening dresses. She has been invited to Openings at V. M. I. next week end. Look out, V. M. I. Here she comes!

Charlotte Adams is once again informing us what kind of pastry we are having for meals now that she and Bobby Beck are back together again.

Nancy Miller has surely been receiving the telephone calls from Charlottesville. Too bad she doesn't have the money to accept the calls!!!

Claire Sindlinger and Mary Baxter Sigler are sporting the Navy pins that they received this summer.

Why is Frank's picture in Trudy McGinnis's room, Betty Nowlin? Ain't he treating you right these days?

Joan Welte and a certain heart throb were seen in the big city of Washington, D. C. last week end. Was the movie good, Joan?

Westmoreland

Third floor Westmoreland was a mighty excited place last week when invitations to the Navy-Duke game started coming in. Among the lucky ones going up for the game were Pat Lancaster and Candy Crittenton who dragged first classmen.

Karen Morey went up to Princeton, New Jersey last weekend for a mighty big occasion—the Princeton-Penn game.

Ann Penney is flying to Cambridge, Mass., Thursday for a long weekend at Harvard. She'll attend the Army-Harvard game with Jimmy, her Harvard man.

Pat Fane trekked down to Ashland to the Fall Opening Dances at Randolph-Macon which were held last weekend. Among the other festivities was the football game between Guilford and R-M.

Frances Minnick took off for Charlottesville last weekend to see her Virginia man.

Barbara Bowman spent last weekend in Washington and dated a Maryland University man.

Cornell

Perhaps you're wondering who let the cat in or who left her bed unmade this past week-end and if so—well, here's your little "Perry Mason" to keep you well informed on what goes on behind the closed doors at Cornell Hall.

First of all, football games seemed to be the main attraction of the week-end. Honey Kerrins and Ann Berkeley, originally from Alexandria, Mary Ellen Whitehurst of Charlottesville, Robin Stuart from Long Island, Robbie Robinson from Pennsylvania, Rosalie Brodie of Falls Church and Peggy Hopkins of Staunton journeyed to U.V.A. to see the Cavaliers defeat the Miami Eleven. And also, from all the chitter-chatter that's been going on, the game wasn't the only attraction at U.V.A.! How about those frat parties, girls?? Sarah Lee Sharp of Williamsburg saw the Indians meet the Gobblers. Sarah Lee's only complaint was that the wrong team won! But of all the girls who attended games, we believe Jeanne Warner of Tampa, Florida had the most exciting time. Jeanne went to West Point to see Army play Penn State and my, oh my! the hour that she arrived back at Cornell Monday morning! What a week-end!

However, everyone at Cornell didn't attend a football game. The ole' home fire beckoned to many a lass who immediately wended her way homeward. Pattie Cannady returned to Staunton, Esther Davis to Bunea Vista, Helen Chappelle to Marshall, Betty Crockett and Marjorie Burrus to Orange, Virginia, and Mary Kathryn Cope to Alexandria.

Dear Mom . . .

Well, things are really under way now and it seems ages since I was home. It took us some time to get settled but the room really looks quite cozy now. I think we have enough rugs as you know the more we have the more we have to clean.

Golly, it seems all we did for awhile was rush. I know I didn't have a minute to relax and you know I love to catch an extra 40 winks. Too bad I've already had correctives. They ought to have an advanced course in it in which you could spend double time resting in class and get credit for it. One thing that tires me out is all the walking I have to do, I'm not used to it after the summer. I've already had to have heels put on my loafers.

Monroe was a mad-house during registration but it is back to normal now. The gym is still as chilly as ever but after you've jumped around in Folk and Square Dance for an hour you're completely warmed. However, Social Dance in the tops. I peeped in the other day when I thought no one was looking and if the girls didn't look cute prancing around to music. If the outside world only knew what it took to learn to dance.

Well, I've had my physical and apparently I'm in good health. It took quite a while but I was one of the lucky ones who missed a class. However, I felt it was worthwhile waiting as I knew you all would be concerned about my health.

Boy, we really have been kept busy with lessons. I have so much outside reading to do that I'm sure the books in E. Lee Trinkle won't have a chance to get dusty. So far no mention has been made of those things called tests, but I'm expecting one any day. It certainly would be wonderful if you could get an education without having to study so hard. Well I won't complain anymore because we do have our moments of fun and recreation.

We've had a few small parties and we certainly did enjoy the boxes you sent. The brownies were delicious only they didn't last long enough. However, we can't blame their disappearance on our little friend the mouse because he hasn't been around to visit us yet this year.

This past weekend was rather lonesome. Lots of the girls had gone to various football games and poor little me stayed right here. Oh well, I'll be going away next weekend. However, I'm glad I had my radio to console me. I had a play-by-play description of the game so it wasn't too bad. What I really should have is a television set. I envy you all at home.

Well, Mom, I must settle down and do some lessons. I have an 8:30 class in the morning and I still have to do my assignment and it is almost time for lights out! Please send my flashlight!!

Write real soon as I am making so many useless trips to the Post Office.

Love,
Dotter . . .

Church Supper Given For MWC Students Oct. 2

A group of 20 Mary Washington girls was officially welcomed into Christ Lutheran Church Sunday evening, October 2.

A covered-dish supper given by the congregation was prepared under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Beard.

Pastor Leigh Bell of the Lutheran Church made a brief speech. He stressed, "The Mary Washington students are always in our thoughts and are very important to our congregation."

Party games followed the supper. Chaplain Breneman from Quantico led the congregation in a few songs. The singing of "We Are Climbing Jacob's Ladder" brought the entertainment to a close.

Canterbury Meets With U. of Va. Club

The M. W. C. Canterbury Club had a joint meeting with the University of Virginia Canterbury Club at the cabin on Sunday, October 2.

The evening's program began after the groups had gotten acquainted while eating the picnic supper. Betty McElroy, Vice-president and program chairman of Mary Washington Canterbury Club, introduced the guest speakers, Bill Mead and Bob Coleman, students from the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria.

These two led an informal discussion on "Christianity and the modern man." A worship service closed the evening's program.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Early and the Rev. Thomas Faulkner were present at this gathering. Also present was the Rev. Barton Lloyd of Charlottesville who extended an invitation to Mary Washington's Canterbury Club to visit the University's Canterbury Club.

English Rush Party To Be October 18

The party will take place on Tuesday, October 18th. All English majors who are upperclassmen and who have maintained a B average in English are eligible for membership and will be invited to attend.

The officers of the fraternity for the year 1949-50 are: President, Della Gene Pate; Vice-President, Billie Mitchell; Secretary, Mirabel Sutherland; Treasurer, Virginia Felts; and Reporter, Barbara Birkenmeyer.

Voelkel Presents "Greek" Convocation

At Convocation Wednesday, October 5 Dean Alvey introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Laura Voelkel, who chose as her topic "It's Greek to Me."

The speaker said that all people are influenced by the art and literature of Greece. The writings of the Greeks and Romans, show man's unchangeable spirit, she said.

Dr. Voelkel also talked about the ancient poets and writers, saying that most of them can help us with our problems today. Of the poets, the speaker said that Homer's songs are free, uninfluenced, and simple but rich, and that we today still feel sympathy with Sappho, the greatest feminine lyric poet.

Dr. Voelkel also pointed out that the idea of democracy comes from the Greeks. Slides were then shown that illustrated Greek influence on Modern Art. Coins were displayed to show that the Greeks were great craftsmen as well as great artists and thinkers.

Dr. Voelkel received her A.B. at Vassar College and her M.A. and Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins University. She came to Mary Washington College last year to join the foreign language department.

M. W. Players Choose Committee Heard

At a meeting on Monday, October 3, of the Mary Washington Players, committee heads were chosen for the coming play, "The Women."

The student director will be Charles Ritter. Ann Penney is stage manager. Those who will head committees are: Jane Gregg, scene technician; Lorraine Franz, makeup; Kay Shorrock, props; Barbara Miller, costumes; Martha Carr, lights; Eddie Brazil, publicity; Ann Worsham, sound; Mildred Jones, house manager; Conni Froehler, business manager; Ginny Briant, publicity; Eddie Brazil, program.

They tell a mad tale about the prof who got tired of having people call his course easy. One day, he rushed into the room, pulled out a whip, snapped it over the students' heads several times and cried, "This is what is known as a snap course."

One prof went into a harangue against women Friday.

"The trouble with the fellow who thinks he can read women like a book is that he's always forgetting his place," he said.

Then he added: "But I suppose we should be grateful we can't understand women. Women understand women and they don't like them."

Station WMWC Begins Active Radio Year

Now that we are back to the old grind again, probably every room on the campus sports a radio which is ready for another year of "active duty." Just so that your leisure moments in the early morning and in the afternoons will be put to good use, Station WMWC, which is affiliated with the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, is anticipating a five-day-a-week broadcast schedule for a total of fifteen hours.

For those of you who don't have 8:30 classes start your morning right by tuning in to 890 on your radio dial, where from 8 until 9 A. M. you can hear the Dawn Patrol Show, designed to bring you music, devotionals, and news of meetings scheduled for that particular day. Even if you have an 8:30 and can smuggle the nearest portable into class, it will be well worth your while, provided that your professor doesn't mind. (P. S. Tune in the next week to the case of WMWC vs. college professors.) Also for your listening pleasure, the station will soon be on the air from 3 until 5 P. M. Monday through Friday, featuring everything from drama and music to news and quiz shows.

Something new in the way of making announcements is being tried out this year by the Mike Club, an organization for those interested in the acting, announcing or engineering end of radio. In Chandler outside the C Shoppe is an announcement box for complaints, sales, or lost and found announcements. Just drop a note in, and all news will then be broadcast the next day over WMWC on the Dawn Patrol Show. Many new classical and popular records have also been added to the station's music library, which means "Request Time" on the morning show will soon be inaugurated.

The staff for WMWC this year has Nancy Stacey at the helm as Station Manager; Martha Carr, Engineer; Chichi Thompson and Nell Jane Sosebe, Program Directors; Ruth Stess, Continuity and Record Librarian; Anne McClerkin, Artist's Bureau Director, Helen Chiles, Business Manager; Sarah Miles, Treasurer; Martha Smith, WFVA Show; and Nat Wilton, Publicity Director.

All This - And Paris, To!

Dining in Paris in the evening and lunching in New York the next day was only one of the many experiences enjoyed by Dr. Milton H. Stansbury, professor of French at M. W. C., during his European tour this summer. He plans to use some of his travel experience in a new French text book which he is now writing.

Making Paris his headquarters, Dr. Stansbury began his sojourn by taking in the sights of France. This was the first time he had been there since the war. He found much of the country almost completely unchanged, although the inhabitants told many tales of suffering during German occupation. "Paris is still beautiful and clean," declared Dr. Stansbury, "and could put many American cities to shame in that respect."

Proving that it's a small world, Dr. Stansbury actually met a Mary Washington girl, Susan Ekelund, at the opera one night in Paris! He also witnessed the Bastille Day celebration when the whole city was illuminated.

After visiting a French farm, or "mas" in Provence, one of the most historically interesting sections of the country, Dr. Stansbury traveled on through the French Riviera to Rome. Rome, like Paris, was thronged with tourists, and one of the things he particularly noticed was how joyous and happy the Italian people seemed. The open air opera was one of the most impressive forms of entertainment in Rome, according to Dr. Stansbury. It was presented in the ruins of Caracalli, an old Roman bath. The first signs of bomb destruction evident to Dr. Stansbury were in Milan where vast sections were under reconstruction.

Venice was next on his itinerary. This city had lost none of its former charm and glamour and gondolas still glided at night with music and soft lights. "It was generally noticed that the Italian women were the best dressed in Europe, in spite of the war," said Dr. Stansbury.

Then, on to Switzerland, completely undevastated, and, to complete the trip, back to Paris to attend as many fall openings of the theater and opera season as possible.

Rain Prevents 'M W.C. College Night'

A "Mary Washington College Night" had been scheduled for the past season's running of the "Common Glory." However, the performance had to be cancelled because of rain. It was one of the two performances which was rained out during the entire season.

The Jamestown Corporation, producer of the "Common Glory," considers itself an instrument of aid for the people of Virginia. Its aim is, first, to portray in dramatic form the history of Virginia to the people of the entire nation, and, second, in doing so to provide training in the ways of the theater and related arts to Virginians.

Pi Sigma Kappa To Hold Tryouts Tuesday, Oct. 11

"Speak the speech, I pray you, as I have pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue," was Hamlet's advice to the players. This same bit of wisdom is applicable to the member of Pi Sigma Kappa, Honorary Speech Fraternity of Mary Washington College. The purposes of this organization are to promote good speech and correct parliamentary procedure on the campus of MWC. Anyone interested in speech is eligible to try out for membership. Members do not have to be Dramatic Arts and Speech Majors.

This year, tryouts will be held on Thursday, October 11, at 6:45 p.m. The tryouts will be in the amphitheater behind the swimming pool, or in case of rain, in room eight of Monroe Hall. All students interested in becoming members are invited to try out at this time. Each applicant for membership will give a brief impromptu speech on one of the several subjects announced at the meeting. In addition, applicants will read one of the following brief poems, "Invictus," by W. E. Henley; "Little Brown Baby," by Paul Laurence Dunbar; "The Duel," by Eugene Field, or "Sweet and Low," by Alfred Tennyson. It isn't necessary to bring copies of the poems to the tryouts; these will be furnished by Pi Sigma Kappa.

Pi Sigma Kappa, at the monthly meetings of the organization, holds discussions and programs which help members learn more about speech techniques. Members have an opportunity to display their own talents too. Occasionally, a guest speaker tells members about some particular phase of public speaking, or gives a program of readings.

Pi Sigma Kappa members keep busy all year long. This year, there will be a Pi Sigma Kappa speech choir. Lots of fun awaits this group. After being trained in choral speaking, the speech choir will present programs. Then too, the yearly convocation program which the group presents provides fun for members and for the entire student body. At Christmas time, a high light of the festivities on the campus will be the Pi Sigma Kappa Christmas Banquet. In the spring, Pi Sigma Kappa supervises the Virginia High School Forensic Tournament, which is held at Mary Washington College.

Do you want to speak or work with a speech choir? Come to the tryouts! If there are further questions about what the organization does, contact one of the officers. They are: Anne McClerkin, Westmoreland 216, President; Marie Carol Attanese, Betty Lewis 26, Vice President; Nancy Leonard, Framar Annex, Secretary; Jane Grey, Westmoreland, Treasurer; Sarah Miles, Custis 208, Parliamentarian. The sponsor of Pi Sigma Kappa is Mrs. Sollenberger, instructor of speech and radio.

Mademoiselle Opens Annual College Board Contest

Mademoiselle magazine has opened its annual contest for College Board members during the 1949-50 college year.

Membership in the College Board is the first step in becoming one of Mademoiselle's twenty college "Guest Editors," who will be brought to New York next June to help write and edit the annual August College issue of the magazine.

While in New York City, each Guest Editor takes part in a full calendar of activities designed to give her a head start in her career. She interviews a celebrity in her chosen field to get advice on the education and training needed and to ask about tips and short cuts in reaching the top.

The twenty Guest Editors are selected from the College Board on the basis of three assignments given by the magazine during the year. They are paid a regular salary for their month's work, plus round-trip transportation to New York City.

PORTRAITS OF '53

Another year of M.W.C.—another Y.W.C.A. "Kiddie Party." This year's parade of tots portrayed everything from the Siamese twins to Tom Sawyer. You know Johnny Banne's voguish haircut sure had us fooled. We really thought she was a B-O-Y! The display of stuffed animals was something to see too. There were some of the most beautiful we have ever seen, although one little girl decided that she liked live cats better than stuffed ones.

First prize (according to the decision of psychologist, biologist, and English professor) was awarded to Sally Hammett who hails from Washington, D. C. Sally's simplicity of dress and actions was outstanding and one of the main factors in determining the winner.

Runner-up was Isabel Kinnett who wore a pink pleated skirt. Isabel is from way down in Macon, Georgia. After the contest, she said: "No one could have been more surprised than I was at winning second prize." And get this—Sally and Isabel are roommates!

Third prize winner, Jane Byrd Dunn, was depicted as a girl scout, and she really brought back the nostalgic "good old days" to mentarian. The sponsor of Pi Sigma Kappa is Mrs. Sollenberger, instructor of speech and radio.

Sally Shopper

Monday evening, October 17, will be a big night on MWC campus—for at 7:00 in Monroe Auditorium CARLEY'S will present a showing of, the latest fall and winter styles. Twenty girls, chosen from MWC will model a wonderful assortment of wool dresses, coats, suits, skirts and sweaters. For that big week-end coming up soon there will be a luscious group of male-tested formals and date dresses. And, of course—for that occasional wet and gloomy day you will see gay and serviceable raincoats. CARLEY'S Fashion Show is sponsored by the Student Government with music rendered by Donna Hankla. Can you think of a better way to spend a blue "Monday evening?"

For that uncontrollable waist line, LYNN PERKINS has just the skirt. The waist band can be adjusted (either direction) for ½ in. without changing that pencil-slim line. Besides—the problem of that ever changing length is beautifully solved by a new tape around the bottom, which when turned up and pressed with a warm iron will stick indefinitely. This "Magic Skirt" can be found in wool, rayon, gabardine, and corduroy and in a glorious assortment of colors and plaids. They are priced from $4.95 to $8.95. Hurry down to get yours so you may be one of the first to show off the new "Magic Skirt."

Combs Requests Fuel Conservation

(Editor's Note: Dr. Combs has recently made the following important announcement.)

As a result of the present strike in the coal mining industry, the Governor and the State steering committee on fuels have requested that immediate steps be taken to effect every possible economy in the consumption of coal.

The coal strike, if not quickly ended, will inevitably create at an early date a critical shortage of fuel. It is imperative in view of this threatening crisis, that we economize all fuel in every way possible. These economies must embrace the use of coal for every purpose such as the production of heat, power, and lights. Temperatures should be kept at the lowest practical level consistent with comfort. Windows and outside doors should be kept closed as far as a reasonable degree of ventilation will permit. The unnecessary use of electric lights must be strictly avoided. Students when leaving their rooms, or faculty members when leaving the classrooms, are requested to turn out all lights and to avoid any use of lights except when it is absolutely necessary. Unnecessary use of steam should be carefully avoided.

Unless the current strike is speedily ended drastic measures involving serious discomforts to the public may be necessary to cope with the emergency. The voluntary efforts of all of our personnel at Mary Washington College is necessary to meet this serious situation. If these efforts are diligently and effectively applied, it may help us to avoid more drastic steps involving discomfort before the strike is ended.

The full cooperation of everyone is expected and will be greatly appreciated.

M.W.C. Golfers See Md. Tournament

On Sunday morning, September 25, the golf enthusiasts here at Mary Washington boarded the school bus bright and early to attend the finals of the Women's National Open Golf Tournament played at Prince Georges Golf and Country Club in Landover, Md.

Three of the favorite pros of the tournament—Louise Suggs, "Babe" Zaharias, and Patty Berg—were targets for the Mary Washington autograph seekers, who haunted the practice green, driving range, and starting tee off to get the coveted signatures.

The girls walked the eighteen holes to follow their favorite players, and after play was finished that afternoon, there was a crowd of foot-weary M. W. C. girls. Louise Suggs, a tiny brunette from Georgia, was winner of the pro class of the Open with a 291 score for the 72 holes. She was presented the cup and first prize money by movie actor, James Dunn, who was master of ceremonies. "Babe" Zaharias, last year's winner, was second and Patty Berg took third place. Carol Diringer, who also turned in a fine performance, won the amateur title. Well-played golf and fine sportsmanship were exhibited throughout the whole day.

M. W. C. Vets Inaugurate First Football Team

Chief among the plans of the M. W. C. Vets this year is to inaugurate a football team. Dr. George Shankle, sponsor and coach, says the team is to be composed entirely of the vets. Arrangements have been made to use a vacant lot near the campus for scrimmage and the James Monroe High School field for the games. Various athletic supply concerns and the University of Virginia have been approached for uniforms.

As yet no games have been scheduled, but the team is expecting to play at least three games before the season is over. If things go well this year an earlier beginning and consequently more games are anticipated for next year.

Felvey Wins Scholarship Class At Annual Fall Horse Show

The third annual fall open Fredericksburg Horse Show, sponsored by the Hoof Prints Club, was held Saturday and Sunday, October 8th and 9th at Oak Hill Stables. Saturday's classes were for junior and pony classes, while Sunday featured hunter and jumper classes for horses. The featured class on Saturday was the $200 Scholarship class open to juniors. Entrants in this class were picked to ride individually a special program which attempted to show more horsemanship than the usual walk, trot and canter of the equitation class. Nine entries were picked to ride this special program. After the final scoring Myrna Felvey of Richmond, was found to be the winner, with low score of two faults.

Laura Lee Shreve of Arlington, and her small pony Chico vanned down for the show with their eye on that championship ribbon, and they were not disappointed. Laura took first in open pony jumpers, second in small pony hunters and fourth in open pony hunter hacks to win the tricolor, while W. H. Perry's David was in for reserve.

Competition was hot in the large pony division with W. Haggin Perry's Watch Me, Nelson Berry's Pinocchio and Sue Ann Freeman's Thumbs Up all out for victory. Watch Me took first in large pony hunters, second in open pony hunter hacks and second in junior hunter hacks to put her on top for the championship while Sue Ann's Thumbs Up took reserve.

Sunday's show was also blessed with beautiful weather and a good crowd of spectators and exhibitors. The lone equitation class of this day was the M. W. C. Equitation class, open to M. W. students only. The girls in this class rode individually through the same program that was used Saturday for the scholarship class. Here again the spectators saw some beautiful performances. Jane Foster, from Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, used her horsemanship to best advantage on Batchelor Boy and won the class hands down with 2 faults. Elisabeth (Te Te) Brauer and Bailey both had 3 faults so they changed horses and rode off the tie. Carol took second and Te Te third.

The most exciting class of the day was the F. E. I. class over a special course which wasn't announced until class time. The course was a figure eight without wings and was judged on faults with penalty for exceeding the time limit. Sox, owned by the U. S. Marines of Quantico, Virginia, had a faultless round to win this highly contested class.

The Hoof Prints Club really did a good job in running this show, and due appreciation should be given to the Cavalry Troop which handled parking and jumps. We have never seen such a fast and efficient jump crew.

Judges for the show were Colonel Luebberrmann of Doswell, Virginia and Major Leach of Front Royal, Virginia.

Ursinus Changes Chapel Rules

Collegeville, Pa.—(I.P.)—Ursinus College has changed the regulations on Chapel attendance. Previously only resident students with less than sixty semester hours to their credit were required to attend. The administration points out that gradual exceptions were due to the increase in enrollment after the war.

Under the new rule, which is believed to be more democratic and fair and to give the greatest number an opportunity to participate in this service, freshmen and sophomores will attend on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, while juniors and seniors will attend on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The new rule as listed in the college handbook follows:

All resident students and all day students whose homes are within a mile of the campus are required to attend the Chapel services on certain designated days of each week. Each student is assigned a seat in the auditorium and is required to occupy his own seat.

Three unexcused absences from Chapel are allowed during a term. Persons exceeding this number of unexcused absences will be given five demerits for each unexcused absence. The Dean of Men will impose these demerits and report them to the Dean and to the Faculty.

Authorities here hope that students will cooperate in making the Chapel services a worthwhile period of group worship, rather than something to be endured. The lack of reverence shown during previous Chapel services is recognized as a serious problem, and efforts will be made to improve this year's services and to insure a more reverent atmosphere.

Manchester Expresses Concern Over Stealing

North Manchester, Ind.—(I. P.) Dr. R. V. Bollinger, dean of students at Manchester College has expressed grave concern over the occasional reports of stealing and dishonesty among students. "It is common knowledge," he asserts, "that our ideas on what constitutes honesty and dishonesty are not always in perfect agreement. Nevertheless, there is certainly a line of dividing socially acceptable deviations from those generally unacceptable."

Among the latter category, Dr. Bollinger lists thefts of money from billfolds and purses left momentarily unguarded in dorm rooms, locker rooms and lounges; the pilfering of various items of equipment from the cafeteria, dining halls, and other campus establishments; the "borrowing" of the results of other people's study and industry on tests; the padding of student time cards; and failure to report breakage to college property inflicted by oneself.

"All these types of dishonesty have been reported as occurring on our campus on a scale which must disturb anybody with a sharp sense of collective responsibility for such behavior," states the dean. He adds that the College has just established a cam-

5. Pittsburgh—Settlement of the steel strike is not in sight as U. S. Steel and Philip Murray's labor union are still deadlocked over the question of old age pensions.

John L. Lewis will participate in a mediation meeting Wednesday with the coal operators. No hope for a settlement of the steel strike is warranted until the coal strike is settled.
